

To Whom it May Concern:

I recognize changes are often important as technology advances, however, LPFM taking priority over the current FM band translator service will put thousands of small businesses out of business. Also worthy to note, are the millions of listeners that will lose their favorite stations, DJ's, commentators, news channels, etc.

Not all of us have local FM stations that are worth listening to. LPFM will not guarantee that an equal to better replacement of our current FM stations will be had. If LPFM is the future, then allow it to grow into its own, through listener support, not government regulation, please.

Sincerely,

Jeff Gribble
